"General Suggestions: Your committee has received so much encouragement from such varied so 1.278 that, agenrant from such varied so 1.278 that, agenrant from such varied so 1.278 that, and the public of the such and the public of the such and the such as the such a Richmond not only desires, but will cordially support, a legitimate and real agricultural fair.

Richmond Too Long Isolated.

"Richmond has been too long quite off from many rich and valuable sec-tions of the State, and should, theretions of the Sinte, and should, therefore, selze with avidity the opportunity offered by the State Fair for retestaths aing cordina and enduring relations, both social and commercial,
with every county and city of the Sinte. Such a re-establishment of the State Pair upon such a basts would be of incalculable benefit not would be to be commercial, but the poonly to the commercial, but the po-lineal life of the State. It would fos-inneal are of the State. It would loster a spirit of unity and solidity and create and enlarge a sympathy between the various sections that could not be otherwise obtained.

"In order to effect such far-reaching and valuable changes, it is absolutely estential that the fair be of intrinsic merit, not only to the city of Richword, which will entertain the visitors, but to the exhibitors as well, upon whose good-will and number the success of the fair finally depends.

"The scope of the Virginia State Fair should embrace agricultural, mechanical, educational and commercial domestic exhibitors. Every effort should be made to induce the various counties of the State, by means of personal solicituden, to furnish exhibitors and to reduce as far as possible the heldental expenses, your counties, in order to stimulate such exhibitors and to reduce as far as possible the heldental expenses, your committee suggests that the last day of the fair he given up for general sale of all goods, fruits, vegetables, cattle and live-stock exhibited.

Such a plan would enable the exhibitors to send their exhibits to the fair without any expense to themselves, as they would ship their goods with freight charges collect, and such charges could be met with the proceeds of the sales, the balance, if any, being returned to the exhibitors. This feature has been commended on before, and has the marked advantage of giving the out-of-town visitors an opportunity for making as well as spending money. The real dea of a fair is a place for sale and exchange and if the Virginia State Fair is able to offer such a field for development and exploitation to the live stock and fruit rulsers of Virginia State Fair is able to establish this fair upon an enduring and if the virginia state Fair is able to offer such a field for development and exploitation to the live stock and fruit rulsers of Virginia well in attracting a large number of buyers to our city.

Considerable discussion of minor details followed the presentation of the report. Several of the gentlemen present had interesting suggestions to make but it was agreed that the Board of Management should be given a free hand to arrange the canvass of the city, decide upon the size of the shares of stock, select the site, and determine the details of the arrangement of the exhibits, the number and size of the buildings, and so on. The emphasis placed upon the necessity for securing for the head of the organization a prominent citizen known throughout the State started an interesting train of speculation but no mames throughout the State started an interesting train of speculation but no names were mentioned.

Captain W. W. Baker and Mr. James Bellwood, both prominent residents of Chesterfield county, spoke briefly, declaring that if the city showed the right spirit in declaring for a fair the farmers of Virginia would live up behind it and make the exhibition a great success. Each of these gentlemen made liberal subscriptions for stock. Mr. Bellwood suggested that before the plans are finally mapped out one or two experienced men mapped out one or two experienced men-be sent to Buffalo, Toronto and other places to Inspect the grounds of those places for ideas. This suggestion mer-with much favor. The question of site was discussed informally. Mr. Loraine declaring that he had received offers of a number of places. He exhibited an elaborate design for the fair grounds drawn up by a local real estate concern which wishes to sell or lease an 80 acre lot on Brook Road to the association. Upon motion and after some discus-tion, it was finally decided that the Board of Management should be com-posed of twenty-three gentlemen, in-

GRIDIRON RECORD IS PHENOMENAL

Newport News Lad is Tower of Strength At Davidson College.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) CARLISLE, PA., November 18 -- A Virginian by nativity and early education, Paul Jones Davis has eclipsed practically every foot-ball player in the middle East in the matter of individual spectacular achievements on the gridiron this year. Mr. Davis is the captain of the strong Dickinson College eleven, and the successful season just closed by them is due largely to his heroic and skilful direction of their work, in the preliminary stages of preparation as well as through the struggles of indexesson.

Captain Davis is a tower of physical strength, and is matured far beyond his twenty-tirce summers. He stands six feet four inches in his stockined feet, and weighs a solid 20 pounds. His athcally every foot-ball player in the middle A few dollars in the price make a big difference in the effect, in the satisfaction.

PAUL JONES DAVIS

He came to Dickinson College in 1903 hotly contested fight for the position of right tackle on the 'varsity eleven, and has played this position since with more credit and success than any man who has ever played on the line with the red and white. Davis is considered a star by the teams which play over the middle East! most especially in his phenomenal punting and kicking of all kinds feared. Probably the most remarkable kick of the season was made by Capitan Davis at Pittsburg on October 28th, in the game against, the Western University of Pennsylvania, when from the fifty-three yard lipe, against a fairly suff breeze, he kicked a goal from the field, about which there could be no question. Capitain Davis's headwork has been the most sallent point about Dickinson's playing this year. Every athletic enthusiast in this section of the country regrets most deeply the fact that Davis will leave Dickinson next year. No capitain the callege has seen will be so sincerely mourned for. Mr. Davis has had two offers to coach foot-bail elevens, with good prospects at Northern institutions, but he has not yet decided what he shall do when he leaves school. right tackle on the 'varsity eleven, and has played this position since with more

ORGANIZED LABOR

EXTENDS SYMPATHY

PITTSBURG, PA., Nov. 18 .- The committee on resolutions made its final report morning session of the American Federation of Labor convention. A resoution had been introduced extending to the sufferers in Russia the sympathy of all organized labor in the United States and authorizing the treasurer of the Federation to send a certified check for $1,000 to help in the alleviation of the terrible conditions now existing among the Russian people. The committee offered a substitute which eliminated the $1,000 clause but extending the hearries' sympathy of American labor and congratulated the Russian workingmen on the success of their recent strike. Y., an organizer for the Shirt-Walst and Laundry-Workers' International Union, made an earnest pica for the Federation's co-operation for the success of the strike now in progress among the women laundry-workers of Troy, N. Y.

A resolution was adopted appropriating 11,000 to aid the women strikers. A committee was also appointed to investigate the working conditions of the girls and endeavor to adjust their differences.

The United States government was urged to acquire control of the telegraph companies. All union workmen were asked by the Federation to oppose congressional nominations of men who were not friendly to labor. An amendment was made that every candidate to public office in the United States who was not a frien... of the laborer be strongly apposed and defeated for the oftice for which he is a car. Att.

The main feature of the game was a sixty-yard run by Hogan for a touchdown. Team work of the Olympias was good, especially the line-bucking of Buras. Below is the line-up of the two clevens:

YOUNG TEDDY HELPED TO LOSE THE GAME

(By Associated Press.)

CAMBRIDGE, MASS., November 18.—
The Yale freshmen team defeated the Harvard freshmen eleven here this afternoon by the score of 18 to 0. Theodore Hoosevelt, Jr., played at left end for Harvard during part of the game.

Young Roosevelt was too light to withstand the attacks of the heavy Yale players and shortly after the start of the second half was in a very weakened condition. He showed a great deal of the second half was in a very weatened condition. He showed a great deal of gumeness, however, and easily proved that he was the leading man on the team in following up punts. He was in the bottom of every play that came around the left end of the line. About five minutes before the end of the game he was assisted off the field pretty well worn out.
